Salem Improvement Co.

WILL BE A HUMMER.—A man was heard to ask this morning "Will the state fair amount to anything this year?" and on inquiry it was learned that he had not visited that institution for seventeen years. It is certain that if he had attended the fair at any time of late years he could not have asked such a question. The society was never as good trim for a high grade fair as this year. Financially it is strong. Its buildings, grounds, and tracks are the best on the coast. Immense crops insure the grandest exhibits ever placed before the people. The race entries are all filled, and that with the best stock ever on the track. Everybody is enthusiastic and the management has every assurance of a great fair.

INCORPORATION ARTICLES.—Articles were today filed incorporating the Columbian Mining Co. of Josephine county. Allen Nevins, A. C. Taylor and Robert Smith are the incorporators. The capital stock is limited to $100,000. The purpose is to develop the Anaconda mines and do a general mining business. Headquarters to be at Grants Pass. Supplementary articles of the East Side Railway Co. were filed by Jas. Steel, G. A. Steel and Jno. B. Cleland of Portland. The object of the company is to construct and operate telegraph, telephone and power lines in the Willamette valley.

THE DISTRICT SCHOOLS.—On Tuesday next the Board of Directors meet in regular session for the transaction of considerable business which has accumulated since the last meeting. Among other things will be the election of a superintendent for the schools. We learn that there is quite a contest for the place, some seven or eight candidates having presented claims. We presume it to be a consulting reflection to the Board that the position will find some one willing to sacrifice himself for the best interests of the district. The schools will open Oct. 2d, with the usual corps of teachers.

UNFORTUNATE HUNTER.—John Vernon, who resides a few miles west of Salem, on the Dixie road, returned from a hunt in the McKenzie country this week, much the worse for his intended sport. As he was cautiously approaching a deer to get a fair aim, with a 44-calibre Winchester rifle, the gun was accidentally discharged, the ball passing between the ulna and radial bones of the left forearm, and barely missing Mr. Vernon's head. At last reports he was resting well, but will have an impaired limb for the rest of his life.

WILL RETURN.—Wm. H. Savage, the efficient superintendent of the state fair pavilion, will return from Chicago tomorrow to take charge of the work here as in former years, when he will return to his work in the White City. He is one of Oregon's best representatives at the world's fairs and his work there will bear good fruit. Mr. Parmenter will assist him at the pavilion as usual.

MORE COMING EVERY DAY.—A friend of the ONE CENT DAILY, who last week sent in a list of fifteen subscribers now writes: "I expect to have a lot more names in a few days and much more cash. The refreshing and reviving effects of your paper are felt, read and admired by everyone. Every man, rich and poor wants the ONE CENT DAILY. It is not a croaker."

IN THE COURT.—Wm. Holcomb yesterday swore out a warrant of arrest against R. R. Ryan, for assault and battery. The case is being tried before Judge Edes this afternoon. M. W. Hunt attorney for plaintiff; Mr. Ryan representing his own defense. The witnesses were examined and arguments submitted by counsel, and judgment will be rendered tomorrow at 10 a. m.

COSTLY FUN.

Little Clay Taylor Tries a Costly Experiment.

Yesterday morning, a little 4 year-old son of A. M. Taylor, residing in the vicinity of Crowley station, Polk county, started in to satisfy his childish curiosity by touching a match to his papa's barn.

The little fellow exercised some ingenuity to get matches without asking directly for them, and ignited and applied one to the combustibles about the barn at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The little fellow then hid himself, leaving it for his mother to raise the alarm and try to extinguish the flames.

Mr. Taylor had just started to McCoy with a load of wheat, and was too far gone to hear the alarm. Mrs. Ruggs, who lives near by, seeing the flames began ringing a large dinner bell, and continued so long and so vigorously as to attract the attention of some threshing hands, who arrived in time to prevent the fire from spreading but too late to save the barn. A quantity of hay and 250-bushels of wheat were destroyed, and had it not been for the faithful help of the threshing crew, a considerable amount of sacked wheat and another rick of hay would have been lost.

Master Clay is thoroughly penitent now, and says he feels so bad about it that he thinks it will be necessary to leave the scene.

W. H. Smith, of Sublimity, is in the city.

Make a Note of it!

Read it over and over again, spell it out and sing it, until it is indelibly fixed in your mind, that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is an infallible cure for chronic catarrh of the head, with all its distressing complications. Impaired taste and smell, offensive breath, ringing noises in the head, defective hearing, nose and throat ailments, are not only relieved, but positively and permanently cured! This is no fancy of the imagination, but a hard, solid fact, proven over and over again, and vouched for, under a forfeiture of $500, by the manufacturers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Uncle Sam's Advertising Scheme.

In Eighth avenue there is a recruiting office for the United States army. In front of the premises during business hours is stationed an orderly whose erect figure, bright new uniform and fine soldierly bearing are well calculated to make a favorable impression on the minds of discontented young men who may be taken with a sudden impulse to enter the service of their country. On the streets in the neighborhood there are generally to be seen two or three robust and well fed young men in the uniform of privates lounging about in a contented sort of way, from whose leisurely manner it might easily be inferred that in time of peace at least, the soldier's lot was quite a happy one.

"The whole scheme is a slick one," was the remark of an ex-private who only a few weeks ago received an honorable discharge from the regular army after six years of service in the west. "The whole scheme is a slick one," he repeated, "and it catches lots of fellows who are just as fresh and green as I was when I enlisted in Philadelphia nearly six years ago. Young fellows who are out of work or who are dissatisfied with their positions, or who are in a desperate frame of mind after a spree, or who are unhappy in their love affairs, accidentally run across these recruiting officers, and the idea suddenly pops into their heads that it would be a mighty nice thing to join the army and thus run away from their troubles."

"They see the orderly and the privates in their neat bright uniforms, with apparently nothing in the world to do but keep their shoes and clothes well brushed, and what was at first merely a vagrant notion becomes a determined resolution. They apply for enlistment, pass the necessary examination and almost before they are aware of it have surrendered a large share of their personal freedom and become subjects of military discipline. But the natty orderly on duty in front of the recruiting office and the well fed privates on the streets near by—what of them, you ask? Why, they run the scheme I spoke of in the first place. Uncle Sam is the shrewdest advertiser in the business. He places those fellows wearing new uniforms on view to advertise what a royal, free for all picnic he has in store for those who join the regular army."—New York Herald.

Jewels of the Austrian Empress.

The private jewels of the empress of Austria are said to be worth between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 of guilden. Among them is a magnificent necklace of pearls, presented by the emperor after the birth of the Crown Prince Rudolph. The necklace is valued at 300,000 guilden. According to a Vienna paper, the jewels of the empress of Russia alone of the crowned heads of Europe can be compared in value to those of the Empress Elisabeth. From time to time she has given jewels to her daughters and relations, but the collection is still almost unequalled. These private jewels the empress can wear when she likes and can trust as she likes. They are her private property. This is not the case, however, with the Hapsburg family jewels. Whenever her majesty wears stones from that collection, an entry is made in the books of the guards to that effect. The jewels belong to the dynasty.
